

The Swiss Dental Industry

Switzerland's reputation for excellence in the fields of precision mechanics and pharmaceuticals, as well as for its academic environment, is strongly established. It is in this exceptional context of high competence and innovation that the Swiss dental industry was able to develop during the last century to become one of the most recognized in the world.

- More than 90% of the dental production of Switzerland is exported worldwide
- Switzerland holds a leading position in the global medical technology sector

Our expertise at the service of dental professionals

Our common passion for the precision industry and the challenges related to oral health motivates us to develop exceptional products. Our members manufacture them daily in the purest Swiss tradition in order to meet all the needs and expectations of dental practitioners worldwide.

We put our skills at their service in order to accompany them towards the success of the care given to their patients.

- Constant proximity with the users of our products
- Great collaborations with academic institutions worldwide
- Regular presence at dental events and fairs to introduce the latest Swiss dental innovations

Our Association (ASDI)

Thanks to our association, which was founded more than 60 years ago, many Swiss dental manufacturers regularly gather around our common values: precision, reliability, innovation and tradition.

The quality of the exchanges during our meetings allows us to strengthen the cohesion of our branch. Large corporations and SMEs work together to defend and promote the identity of the Swiss dental industry at home and abroad.

- Founded in 1956
- 30 member companies
- Representing more than 5000 employees in Switzerland
- Founding member of the European Dental Industry Federation (FIDE)
